2 STATION 2 · GATE · LA PORTE SAINT-MARTIN

Giant

What once felt like an entire universe has gradually become an isolating cage. While the town remains unchanged, the child grows beyond its boundaries, becoming a giant in a place that can no longer contain his ambitions. What happens when the place that raised you no longer has room for the person you are becoming?

Listen · Écoutez
the voice of this text
la voix de ce texte

Text by the station team · Texte de l'équipe

2 STATION 2 · GATE · LA PORTE SAINT-MARTIN

The Twilight Gate

A portal marked by the pride of kings.
A lone warrior, a bottomless void, and a sword like an anchor.
An allegory of the will to survive in the face of an inevitable fate.

If every path led to darkness, what would give meaning to your first step?

Listen · Écoutez
the voice of this text
la voix de ce texte

Text by the station team · Texte de l'équipe

4 STATION 4 · STREET · LA RUE

A Hideout Beneath Nature

The city hides beneath a beautiful illusion. The sunflowers create a shelter that protects people from the outside world, but they also conceal what lies beneath. The beauty above does not necessarily change the reality below; it simply makes it easier to overlook. Perhaps we use beauty not only to escape our problems, but also to disguise them.

Listen · Écoutez
the voice of this text
la voix de ce texte

Text by the station team · Texte de l'équipe

5 STATION 5 · RIVER · LA RIVIÈRE

Where the Light Remains

The golden sky settles over the quiet town, reflected in the river below. The atmosphere grows quiet, but the water remembers the light. What remains when the day is gone?

Text by the station team · Texte de l'équipe

6 STATION 6 · TOWERS · LES TOURS

The Illusion of Harmony

The beauty and the beast exist side by side, creating a fragile balance between peace and destruction. What appears beautiful and harmonious may hide something darker beneath the surface. Like the shortest and most temporary season, this harmony is fleeting, reminding us that even the most beautiful moments cannot last forever. Is this true harmony, or the beginning of destruction?

Text by the station team · Texte de l'équipe

6 STATION 6 · TOWERS · LES TOURS

Machine and Flower

Pale petals fall on quiet streams,
A gentle landscape born of dreams.
The mountains sleep in quiet grace,
Embracing this forgotten space.

Yet rising stark against the sky,
Tall concrete giants watch from high.
White plumes of steam disguise the air,
Like painted clouds suspended there.

A fragile treaty, a silent lie,
Where blooming branches mask the sky.
They stand together, machine and flower,
A quiet doom in a tranquil hour.

Text by the station team · Texte de l'équipe